GYPSY TRICKS PROVE COSTLY

Gettysburg Officers Take in Charge
Eleven Horses belonging to Gypsy Band. Chieftain Placed in Jail for License and Costs.

After turning their seventeen horses into the clover field of M. O. Deardorff near Biglerville on Wednesday evening the gypsy band which passed through Gettysburg earlier in the day settled down for the night, only to be aroused later by Officers Wilson Shealer and Emmons who were summoned from Gettysburg to take the crowd in charge.

Mr. Deardorff and his family were at the Hagerstown fair on Wednesday and returned to find the horses meandering through the field from which they had expected to get considerable clover seed and they also discovered that some of the animals had gotten into the corn field. No permission had been given by any one connected with the place for that sort of liberty and the Gettysburg officers were sent for.

They went out late Wednesday night and with the aid of some of the residents of that section succeeded in capturing eleven of the horses which they put in the stable of Hotel Bigler at Biglerville.

They then went on a search for the men of the tribe but they were nowhere to be found. The women were about but seemed to know nothing of the whereabouts of their chieftains. This morning the Big Chief was arrested and brought to the county jail where he admitted that the men were in the camp at the time of the officers' night visit but that they had been concealed under the ample skirts of their wives and daughters.

The Big Chief—the only name by which the gentleman is known—was given a hearing before Squire Hill where it developed that he had no license as required by the state from gypsy bands. This costs $50 and with the cost of arrest, the use of automobiles and so on, a bill of $87 was figured up. The chief announced that he would stay in jail eighty years before he would pay it and he was given over to Sheriff Thompson. Meanwhile the horses are being held.

HENRY S. ROTH

Henry S. Roth, a well known resident of Biglerville, died at 11:55 this morning at his home in that town aged 65 years. Mr. Roth was a mason and had been engaged at the building operations on the Martin S. Boyer farm near Biglerville when he was taken ill about nine o'clock. He was removed to his home where death occurred three hours later.

Mr. Roth leaves his wife, Mrs. Amanda Roth, and the following children, Isaac S. Roth, Mrs. Alonzo Thomas, Nervin E. Roth, Mrs. Edward Blocher, Charles Roth, Clarence Roth, all of Biglerville; Rufus Roth, of Butler township; Glenn C. Roth, of York now working in Gettysburg. He also leaves three brothers and four sisters, George Roth and Reuben Roth, of Biglerville; John Roth, of Butler township; Mrs. Sara Walter, of Idaville; Mrs. Sue Stevens, of Gettysburg; Mrs. Lydia Lawver and Mrs. Harry Bowling, of Biglerville. FARMERS' DAY OPEN TO ALL

Gettysburg People as well as Those Living in the County May Take Part in Contests for Premiums to be given on Farmers' Day.

Those Gettysburg citizens who are proud of their gardens, and the housewives of town, who delight in their canning, baking and preserving ability, will be glad to know that they will be allowed to compete for the premiums offered for Farmers' Day, Saturday, October 26. Any one at all may contest, residents of the township, of the county towns and even from out of the county if they care to come in and put their products in competition with local parties.

Every day gives still further indication of the big success which the event promises to be. The canvass for subscription from the hotels and restaurants has been encouraging and sufficient money will be secured, it is thought, to have four or five bands here. With the events which will take place in the square during the day the town will be gay enough.

In addition to the premiums announced in these columns yesterday the following have been offered:

Gettysburg 5 and 10 store: for the best jar of red beet pickles, one dozen blue willowware cups, saucers and plates; for the best plate of six biscuits, ten yards of 18 inch embroidery.

C. C. Bream: for the best display of chickens, any variety, must all come in display cases, one of the best 5A blankets.
Penrose Myers: for the best jar of canned peaches, one $5 bracelet; for the best jar of cherries, one $5 ring.

People's Cash Store: for the best quart jar of apple butter, $2.00 water set; for the best plate of doughnuts, one Queen City roaster.

Lewis E. Kirssin: for the largest apple a $4 sweater; for the best glass of jelly, one pair of ladies' $3 shoes.

On Saturday evening after a short illness Henry Hoffman Rowe, a former resident of Gettysburg, died in Baltimore, aged 81 years and 1 day. The services were conducted at the house, by the Rev. Dr. W. H. Dunbar, his pastor. Interment in Druid Ridge cemetery, Baltimore.

Mr. Rowe was connected with the Western Maryland Railway at Union Bridge, Md., for more than 25 years. He was also one of the founders of the Lutheran church at that place. He moved with his family to Baltimore about 20 years ago. For a number of years, he was proprietor of the Baltimore Business Exchange, but retired about 10 years ago.

Besides his widow who was Miss Johanna Dohoney of Baltimore, he is survived by two sons, Frank S. Rowe of Baltimore and Rudolph Rowe, of Glyndon Md. and three daughters, Mrs. Lewis M. Messier of Carroll county, Md., Mrs. John H. Rambo and Miss Gertrude H. Rowe, of Baltimore; also the following sisters and brother: Mrs. Hannah Norbeck Miss Eva Rowe and J. M. Rowe of Gettysburg.

DRASTIC RULES AS TO DRINKING

A drastic anti-liquor drinking order has been issued by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, which has caused more than general surprise among the railroaders on that line. It is said to be the most severe of any kind ever issued by a railroad.

From reports received it is understood that the new order provides that a railroad man is not to be seen in a drinking place off or on duty. If caught the penalty will be a ninety days' discharge for the first offense and discharge from the service for the second offense. This too will be without a hearing. The men have their orders to stay away from hotels if they want their jobs. There will be no excuses taken. Liquor must be tabooed on the Reading or its employees must find work elsewhere.

This order not only applies to the men in the train or operating service, but hits men working for the company, from the most lowly trackhand up to the big men in the service, engineers, conductors and those above them.

TOWN MEN IN ACCIDENT

Charles S. Rudisill, W. P. Gilliland and E. S. Faber were thrown from Mr. Rudisill's automobile in Hagerstown this morning when the car upset. Mr. Gilliland sustained a broken arm and the others minor injuries. Details of the accident are lacking.

COUNTY WOMAN TAKES ARSENIC

Mrs. Eltz, of Near New Oxford,
Makes Unsuccessful Attempt to End her Life by Taking Poison.
Said to have Bought Poison here.

Mrs. John Eltz, of near New Oxford, attempted to kill herself by taking arsenic. Dr. J. L. Sheetz was summoned and he immediately administered an antidote which counteracted the effects of the poison and the woman has now almost completely recovered.

A rumor is current that this is not the first attempt. Mrs. Eltz has made to end her life. Domestic trouble is said to be the cause. Continual worry, it is said, has preyed upon her mind so that at times she is irrational, and it is then she makes attempts at self destruction.

Mrs. Eltz's maiden name was Loss, and she is only about 20 years of age. She is the mother of two children. They were former residents of Straban township, but have been living in the vicinity of New Oxford for several years.

The husband is a tenant on the Nicholas Lingg farm, near that place, which was the scene of the near tragedy.

It is said that the arsenic which Mrs. Eltz used was purchased in Gettysburg about a month ago.

MRS. MAGDALENA GOCHENAU

Mrs. Magdalena Gochenaur died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Peter A. Eckenrode, in Waynesboro Tuesday evening, at 8:45 o'clock, aged 82 years 2 months and 2 days.

She was born in Mechanicsville, York county, the daughter of Abraham Smith, a well known and popular farmer of that place. When she was 19 years old she was married to Eli Gochenaur and moved with him to York Springs. There they made their home for almost 44 years and there her husband died.

Mrs. Gochenaur afterward made her home with Mrs. Peter A. Eckenrode, a daughter, who then lived in Biglerville. Eight years later they moved to Waynesboro.

Mrs. Gochenaur was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church of York Springs. She was a very regular attendant as long as she was able and was highly esteemed by her fellow members. She was a woman of kindly characteristics.

She is survived by the following children: Stanley S. Gochenaur, Kansas City, Mo.; John W. Gochenaur, Westphalia, Kansas; Jesse K. Gochenaur, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. S. E. Trimmer, Gettysburg; and Peter A. Eckenrode, Waynesboro.

Brief funeral services at the home of her daughter in Waynesboro Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Wilcox. The funeral cortege will leave Waynesboro on the 7:45 a. m. train, Friday for Gettysburg from which it will drive to York Springs. Funeral services there by one of her old friends, Rev. Leonard Gardner and Rev. A. C. Logan of the Rock Chapel Methodist Episcopal church.

DIVIDED THE COSTS

The case of Lewis Cramer vs. William Sipling, both of Corowago Township, was heard before Justice V. H. Lilly in McSherrystown. The trouble started at the Hanover Fair where the men had conducted a stand in partnership. After the Fair when they went to settle up and divide the profits, it was found that there was very little money to divide. Cramer then brought suit against Sipling for alleged attempt to defraud. Guy W. Bange, Esq., represented Cramer and Squire L. D. Sell appeared for Sipling at the hearing. After a discussion of the case it was amicably settled, the prosecutor and defendant dividing the costs.

TOLL GATE BURNED THIRD TIME

The toll-gate a short distance north of Littlestown, along the Baltimore turnpike, was destroyed by fire early morning this week. About 1 o'clock, two or three persons approached the gate in an automobile, and acted as though they were remedying some defect of the machine. A short while afterward they departed in the direction of Gettysburg, at which instant the gate was in a flame of fire—having been saturated with coal oil. This is the third time during the past three years the gate was destroyed in that manner. No clue to the guilty parties.

BULLET FOUND IN ROOSEVELT'S RIB

Danger Mark Will Not be Passed Until Friday.

EXPECT SPEEDY RECOVERY

Colonel's Wife Spends Nearly All of Her Time at Husband's Beside and Bars Visitors.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Colonel Roosevelt, his family with him, and satisfied as to his condition, rests at greater ease than at any time since the hand of John Schrank was lifted against his life in Milwaukee.

The first X-ray plate which definitely shows the bullet in Colonel Roosevelt's chest has been developed. The bullet is shown partly imbedded in the fracture in the fourth rib about four inches from the sternum.

The bullet is much flattened and spread out of shape. It is crushed into the upper edge of the rib. Several small splinters of bone project near the bullet.

The radiograph shows an extraordinary spread and arch to the unfractured ribs, indicating the unusual size of the colonel's lungs and development of his chest.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., after a talk with his father and a consultation with the physician, expressed the feelings of those about the ex-president.

"It will be four or five days," said he, "before we can breathe easily."

The fact that a rib was fractured, which was not disclosed before, has added to the general feeling of uncertainty about the colonel's condition.

Not before Friday, if all goes well, will the physicians be prepared to say that their patient is out of danger. The intervening period will be required to determine whether blood poisoning or other complications are to be feared.

The following bulletin, in which Colonel Roosevelt's condition was found satisfactory, was issued by his physicians:

"His temperature, 99; highest pulse, 90; highest respiration, 22; blood count, 90000. Seventy-seven per cent neutrophils, 10 per cent more than before. Less distress in moving, less distress in breathing. General condition very satisfactory.

"DR. J. B. MURPHY,

After a day of ceaseless vigil the colonel's physicians could say no more than that his condition was virtually unchanged. Indications, they said, favored the speedy recovery of the ex-president.

Colonel Roosevelt was cheered by the appearance of Mrs. Roosevelt, who arrived from New York and remained with him constantly. He felt no pain, he said, and moved about at will on his bed, reading or dictating telegrams or talking with members of his family.

Dr. John B. Murphy, who is in charge of the case; Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan and Dr. Scully Terrell, Colonel Roosevelt's physician, held three consultations. Aside from the official bulletin which they issued, which gave little indication of any change, they would say little of the condition of the patient. Why it was that the fracture of Colonel Roosevelt's rib was not disclosed sooner was not made known, although it was said that there was no cause for alarm on this account.

It was learned that the X-ray photograph which was taken in Milwaukee a few hours after Colonel Roosevelt was shot, did not show accurately the location of the bullet. The fracture of the rib explained the pain which Colonel Roosevelt felt in breathing deeply. The impression grew that Colonel Roosevelt would be able to do little or nothing more in the campaign. Although he expressed the hope of leaving for Oyster Bay on Sunday, it is probable that he will be compelled to remain in the hospital for at least a week longer, and that after his arrival at home he will not be permitted to plunge into the campaign again.

It is Colonel Roosevelt's desire to make at least one more speech before election day, and that in his own state of New York. If he can do nothing else, he hopes to speak in Madison Square Garden.

As soon as Mrs. Roosevelt reached the hospital she took charge of affairs. She was accompanied by Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Miss Ethel Roosevelt. Later Congressman Longworth arrived. Mrs. Roosevelt installed herself in a room adjoining that of her husband and during the day seldom left his bedside.

Mrs. Roosevelt's first move was to decree that the colonel must see no visitors except the members of his family. Once or twice during the day she made exceptions, but otherwise she adhered firmly to her resolution. The colonel was "feeling fine" and ready to receive visitors, but Mrs. Roosevelt gave him no opportunity to pass upon her ruling, for she made it on her own authority and saw to it that it was enforced. She received the cards and messages for her husband and sent back her replies, with the result that the colonel himself did not know who wished to see him.

There was little in the appearance of Colonel Roosevelt to indicate that he was not in his usual health. His face has not lost its color, and as he sat propped up with pillows he moved about easily, and apparently was free from pain. As he talked he used his characteristic gestures, although with perhaps less vigor than is usual with him, and at times his laugh could be heard in the corridor outside. He seemed to enjoy his relief from the cares of politics and seemed determined to make his stay in the hospital an enjoyable vacation.

Messages of condolence continued to pour in from all parts of the world. Among them were cables from crowned heads of Europe. Colonel Roosevelt read over a large number of telegrams, but found it impossible to reply to them all. One of them was from Samuel Gompers, reading:

"Upon learning of the outrageous attack upon you I was too much shocked to find expression. I join with the men of organized labor, in common with all our people, who are profoundly hoping for and expecting your speedy recovery."

Colonel Roosevelt laughed heartily at a message from three of his athletic friends, which read:

"The Bull Moose League of athletes expresses to you its deepest sympathy and trusts that our athletic Bull Moose will soon be restored to us Committee."

"JOHNNY HAYES,
"MELVIN SHEPPARD,
"MICHAEL J. RYAN."

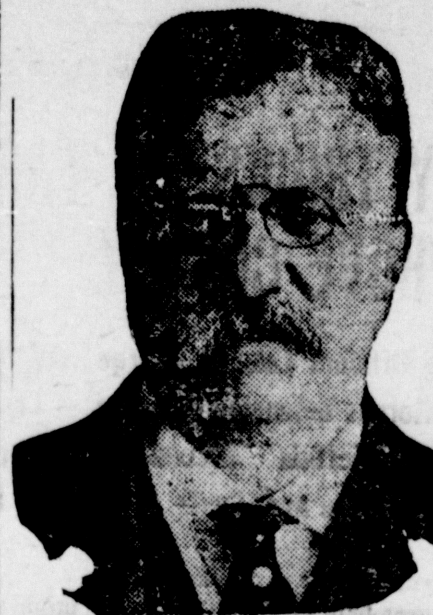

Colonel Roosevelt's old friend, Father Curran, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., arrived at the hospital, having come from Battle Creek, Mich., to see the colonel. An hour before he arrived a telegram was received from him saying:

"I cannot rest until I see you. Will be at hospital today."

Colonel Roosevelt talked with him for a quarter of an hour.

Serious Error in Gettysburg

Gettysburg Citizens Will Do Well to Profit by the Following.

Many fatal cases of kidney disease have reached an incurable stage because the patient did not understand the symptoms. Even today in Gettysburg there are many residents making the same serious error. They attribute their mysterious aches and pains to overwork, or worry, perhaps, when all the time their rheumatic pains, backache and bladder irregularities are most probably due to weak and ailing kidneys. If you are ill, if your kidneys are out of order, profit by this Gettysburg resident's experience.

F. G. McCannion, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I first used Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago and I still take them occasionally, although I seldom need a kidney medicine. I suffered for quite a while from weak kidneys and a painful back. I tried several remedies and doctors, but with little success until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. This preparation rid my system of the pains and aches."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Roosevelt Supporters

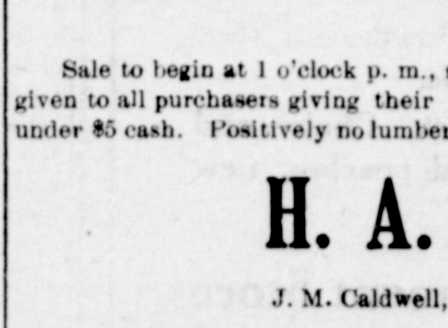

Endorse Lafean

It seems that those who are those who are working to defeat Congressman Lafean for re-election to the House of Representatives from the Twentieth District are highly incensed because the Roosevelt supporters of Mr. Lafean took it upon themselves to pre-empt the Moose party ticket in his behalf. The movement to pre-empt this ticket came, not from Mr. Lafean as has been charged, but from those who voted for Col. Roosevelt delegates, State and National, in the Spring Primary. The suggestion was made by those who were part of the Progressive movement in York and Adams Counties. Those who supported Col. Roosevelt and who did not wish to destroy their party identity and who were likewise in favor of the re-election of Congressman Lafean made the proposition to the friends of Mr. Lafean that his name should appear as the Bull Moose candidate for Congress. There was no trick nor subterfuge attempted as the enemies of Mr. Lafean would try to have the voters believe. But such charges do not come from those who are interested in the success of the Progressive ticket or any other ticket. They originated among a small coterie of men who are actuated solely by selfish motives and who are endeavoring by any method, to bring about the defeat of Congressman Lafean. They hold an imaginary grievance and are out for revenge. The voters know who these men are and what their real object is and they will not be misled by what they do or what they say. Almost to a man, the supporters of Col. Roosevelt are likewise in favor of another term for Mr. Lafean.

BOSTON WEIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeats New York, 3 to 2, in Ten Inning Battle.

WAS A BITTER STRUGGLE

The Giants Led Until Seventh Inning, and a Muffed Fly by Snodgrass in the Tenth Brought Defeat.

Boston, Oct. 17.—The Boston Red Sox climbed to the base ball pinnacle. In a ten-inning contest they beat the New York Giants by a score of 3 to 2 and became the champions of the diamond world. The championship became theirs in the most thrilling and spectacular of all world's series, a series which included eight games and was won by four games to three. But defeat was bitter. Mathewson, the wonderful veteran, pitched gamely and effectively.

With the game in the Giants' grasp, all Matty wanted was good support to insure victory. But he didn't get it. A muffed fly by Snodgrass and the failure of either of two men, Merkle and Meyers, to take a foul fly which was easy to catch, were misplays in the final which brought defeat to the Giants and victory to the Red Sox.

With all the mistakes in fielding that the Giants made and occasional other mistakes, the success won by the Red Sox was over a hardy, aggressive and courageous rival.

Before they frittered the game away, the Giants did a good deal of sharp fielding in pinches and helped Mathewson to return the Boston to the field scoreless.

It wasn't until a pinch hitter, Henriksen, was brought in that the Red Sox were able to hurl a run across the plate. Their first tally was due to a two-bagger by Henriksen. Henriksen's hit tied the score in the seventh inning and sent in a man who had reached a base because an outfield fly was allowed to fall when it should have been caught.

Wood succeeded Bedient in the eighth inning and was rapped for an earned run in the tenth. Bedient was hit hard, but kept the hits scattered.

It was Murray who batted in New York's first run, and it was Murray who made a two-bagger in the tenth and made the second run on a hit by Merkle.

Matty often put the first ball over and often had the batter in a hole. Also he wasted more balls than is his wont, but only once did he get in trouble thereby. The score:

Motorman Kills Bandit.

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 17.—An unidentified bandit, wearing a false mustache and wig, was shot and instantly killed here by Motorman H. J. Hegwer, after the bandit had attempted to rob the conductor of a Grandt avenue car. V. M. Meeker, the conductor, fought with the bandit and offered the loss of the middle finger of his right hand, which was shot off. The motorman came from the front of the car and shot the robber dead.

Fenton, Del., Oct. 17.—While attempting to repair the fence around his pig pen, John Killen, of this place, was attacked by a number of pigs and badly bitten. Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Two persons are known to be dead and five are missing as the result of a fire which destroyed a four-story apartment building at Beekman avenue and Clinton street. The loss is $50,000.

The known dead are Sarah Lichtenstein, aged nineteen; Nellie Greenberg, aged seventeen. Two women were seriously injured, and a baby, thrown from a window, was fatally hurt. The fire started in the cellar of the building, which was owned by Samuel Cohen.

GEN. DIAZ STARTS REVOLT IN MEXICO

Soldiers, Mariners and Police Join Movement.

Mexico City, Mexico, Oct. 17.—The army, the police and the marine corps stationed at Vera Cruz, enlisted under the rebellious banner raised by General Felix Diaz, a nephew of former President Porfirio Diaz, who was driven from the country by the successful revolution of General Madero, the present president.

Two gunboats lying in the harbor of Vera Cruz have been taken by Diaz and the entire plan which he has been perfecting for many days has been carried out smoothly.

Diaz, who had alluded seventeen secret service men and left Vera Cruz sometime between Saturday afternoon and Monday morning, returned and entered the city quietly. With a lieutenant and a small following he arrested the director of the arsenal and the commander of the garrison, but released them later on parole. He then took over the government offices without opposition.

All saloons, banks and business houses have closed their doors, and the citizens of Vera Cruz are enthusiastically accepting the Diaz control.

It is reported that just prior to his disappearance a small boat landed 500 rifles and a considerable supply of ammunition near San Andres. Tuxtla Pedro Antechi and Pastor Lopez are the names of those figuring as Diaz's lieutenants. These two men camped at San Antonio last week after sacking the nearby haciendas.

FALLS INTO CROTCH OF TREE

Boy Became So Tightly Wedged He Had to Be Cut Out.

New Egypt, N. J., Oct. 17.—In falling from the top of a large double tree during the school recess period here, Harry Test, an eight-year-old boy, became so tightly wedged between the two sections of the tree that it was necessary to cut away one of the sections before he could be extricated.

The tree is near the school, and young Test climbed to well near the top. In some manner he fell and landed in the crotch of the tree. When taken out he showed no signs of injury, but was much exhausted by his struggles.

Ing. Colbeck entered a saloon in Island avenue, this city. The merits of the several candidates were being argued.

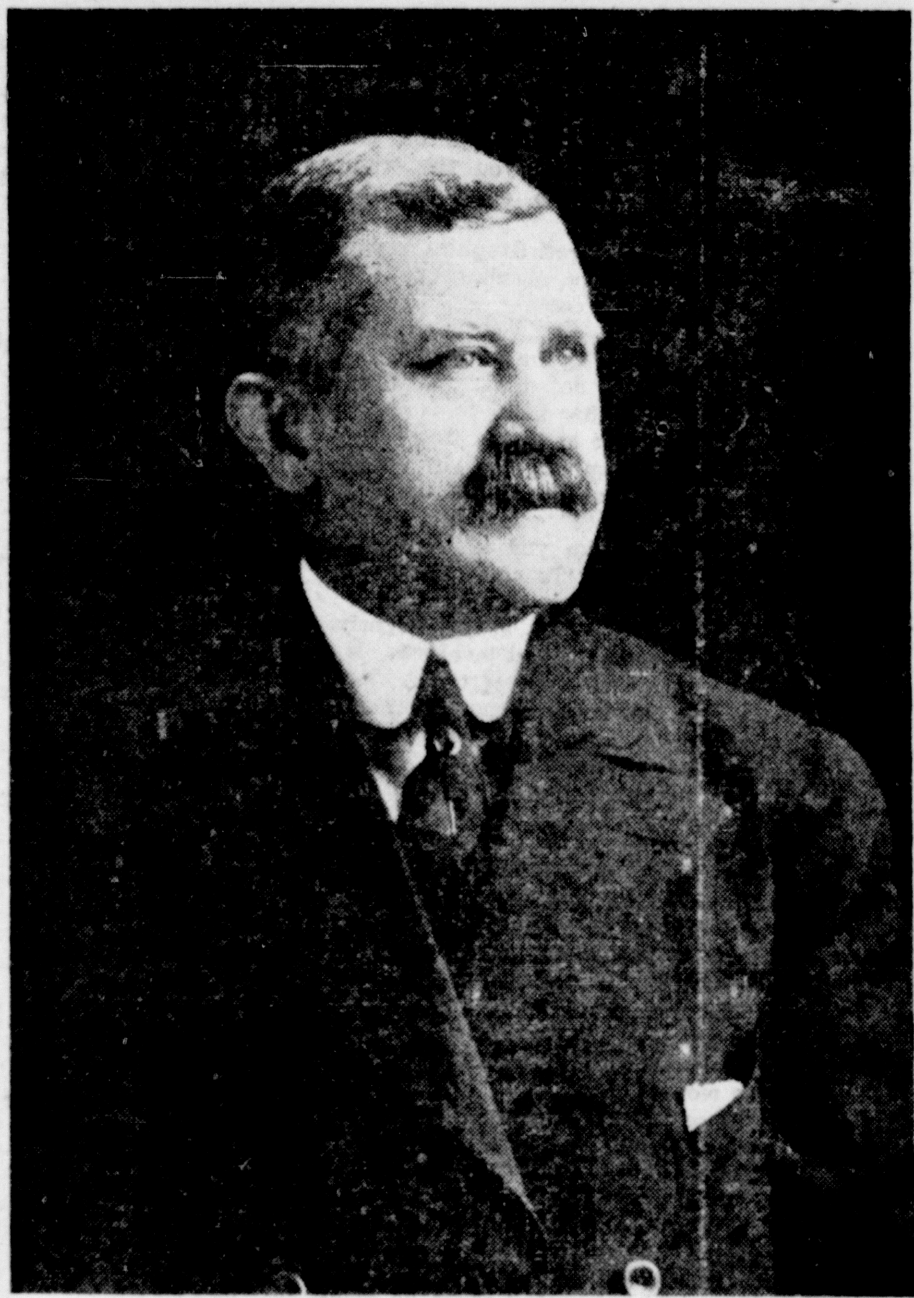

"Well, anyhow," said Tony Breck, the bartender, "I'll bet that bullet puts him in the White House and that will be twice Teddy's been shot into the president's chair."

"He deserved what he got," said Colbeck. "It's too bad the bullet didn't finish him."

A man, whom Breck says was an Italian, plunged a long knife into Colbeck and killed him.

Lafean Knows No Boss But His Constituents

"In Mr. Lafean the state has a representative who possesses the courage of his convictions and a degree of independence which distinguishes him from the great majority of the Pennsylvania members. It has been known in Washington for the last year or two that Mr. Lafean takes no orders from the Organization Bosses in the state, and while he has been amenable to house discipline he has been known as a man who stood ready to assert his own manhood at any time that the wishes of the house leaders ran counter to his own judgment." Vote To Retain Him In Congress

SAYS HE HEARD BECKER CONFESS

"Public Will Pension Me For Killing," Attributed to Him.

New York, Oct. 17.—"When this sensation blows over the public will give me a pension for killing that crook, Rosenthal."

These were the words attributed to former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker by James D. Hallen, a fellow prisoner in the Tombs, at the session of Becker's trial on the charge of investigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, who "squealed" against him.

The defense tried every method to discredit the testimony of Hallen, who was a lawyer before his conviction and sentence to prison. It developed while he was on the stand that John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the defense, had been Hallen's attorney, and the revelation came as a distinct surprise to District Attorney Whitman.

Hallen denied writing to Becker a note which was introduced, and McIntyre had him produce specimens of his handwriting. As one of the charges against Hallen was forgery, McIntyre passed up many supposed forged checks and asked Hallen if he had not signed the different names attached, but the witness stoutly denied that he had.

Two waiters from a hotel told of frequent meetings between Rose and Becker in the hotel dining room when "they talked a long time." One of the waiters said he saw Rose pass the police lieutenant "a roll of bills."

Fifteen witnesses testified for the state. Assistant District Attorney Moss announced that he had only one or two more witnesses to call.

TAFT CLOSELY GUARDED

President Leaves New York for Worcester to Make Address.

New York, Oct. 17.—President Taft left New York for Worcester, Mass., over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

On his way to the station the president was closely guarded by secret service men and a squad of motorcycle police. In addition a number of detectives followed him in an automobile.

At the station, instead of entering by the passenger entrance, the president was escorted through the baggage room and taken to the train floor on a freight elevator.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 17.—The supreme court unanimously upheld the right of the Progressive party to have its state and presidential elector tickets placed upon the official ballot. The Telephone and the Farmer's Wife

"One of the main reasons why I would not be without my telephone," said a farmer, "is the pleasure it gives my wife and my knowledge of her security when I'm away."

The farm telephone dispels loneliness and summons aid when emergencies arise. Write for the booklet, "What Uncle Sam Says About the Rural Telephone." Write to-day. It will prove interesting.

BULGARS DECLARE WAR ON TURKS

Greece and Serbia Are Expected to Take Similar Action and War in Balkans Will Be On in Full Force.

London, Oct. 17.—The declaration of war by Bulgaria against Turkey was published in Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, according to a news agency dispatch from Paris. This step was taken as the result of the withdrawal of the Turkish representative from Bulgaria.

Both Greece and Serbia are expected to follow immediately with similar action, and the general war in the Balkans will then be on in full force. Bulgaria holds the chief position in the Balkan alliance and her action is more significant than that of any of the other nations arrayed against the Turks. Turkey has recalled her ministers from Greece and Serbia, as well as from Bulgaria.

The Turkish armies have been ordered to take the offensive immediately, according to a dispatch from Constantinople.

The Serbian government has ordered its minister at Constantinople to arrange for his immediate departure. The Serbian consuls in Turkey also have been ordered to leave.

The conclusion of peace between Turkey and Italy has caused a feeling of relief throughout Europe, as it removes the grave possibility of complications arising out of the Balkan crisis and enables Italy to take her place in the concert of powers working for the limitation of the zone of hostilities.

The great European nations, under the leadership of France, are exerting every effort to localize the conflict. The powers thus far remain firm in their determination not to allow any change in the territorial situation in the Balkans, no difference what may be the result of the war. At the same time they call upon Turkey to carry out the promised reforms in European provinces in a satisfactory manner. A limit of twenty-four hours has been fixed by Turkey for the Balkan states and Greece to apologize for the sending of their "insolent" note to the Porte, according to a special dispatch from Constantinople.

Bulgarian hands have succeeded in destroying some important bridges near Istip and Kotschana, so that communication with Scutari is completely interrupted and the news in Constantinople from the Montenegrin frontier is meager.

The Ottoman government has solved the problem of the employment of Christian soldiers in the Turkish army by using them in the garrisons of Asia Minor and also partly in Constantinople.

Serious fighting continues, and from the Montenegrin sources at Podgoritz comes the report of another important victory over the Turks. This was the capture of the fortress of Houms, the last Turkish stronghold between Tushi and Scutari. Its fall opens the way to Scutari, the immediate objective point of the Montenegrin army and an important strategic city of Albania.

In the capture of Houms the Montenegrins took many prisoners, including sixty-two Turkish officers.

A dispatch from Cetinje reports the retirement of the Montenegrin General Martinovitch with his troops across the river Boyana, this being part of a flanking movement against the Turkish town of Tarakosch. Another dispatch says the bombardment of Tarakosch has started.

In the Moonshine Section.

According to the report of Commissioner Cabell last year saw the unearthing of 961 illicit stills in Georgia, 420 in North Carolina, 375 in South Carolina, 249 in Alabama and 300 in Tennessee, a total of 2,245 in the states named. As it is estimated that not more than 10 per cent of the "moonshiners" establishments are found by the revenue officers some idea may be formed of the tremendous extent to which the illicit manufacture of intoxicants is carried on in that section.

UNSTUDIED EFFORTS OF ANANIAS AND SAPPHIRA

Ananias and Sapphira clumped up the back steps of the neighbor's house, whooping joyously as they clumped. Outside the screen door they paused for a friendly scuffle. The neighbor pushed the door open and they catapulted through the opening.

"Well, said the neighbor, 'what do you want?'"

"We want a drink. Give us a drink," they chorused.

"You do, do you?" inquired the neighbor. "What do you say when you want people to do things for you?"

The well-mannered Sapphira looked up at her with big pleading eyes. "I say please," she cooed.

"So do I. So do I," shrieked Ananias. "Please give us a drink."

The neighbor doled out the water with a sparing hand.

"What do you have the water in a bottle for?" inquired Sapphira. "Why don't you give us the water that runs out of the spout?"

"It might make you ill," returned the neighbor. "It has microbes in it."

"Has it?" Ananias asked, eagerly.

"Give me some. I just love 'em. My mother gives me lots of them. And once she gave me some water out of the spout and it had snakes in it and I drank them."

The neighbor hastily retired into the pantry.

"My mother gave me some out of the spout," said Sapphira, ruminatingly when the neighbor had returned. "and it had a—It had a—potato in it. Give me some more, please."

"Oh, you don't want any more," the neighbor assured her. "You've had all you need. You couldn't drink any more."

"Once," said Sapphira, fixing her eyes dreamily on nothing. "I drank a whole bottle full without stopping a minute, with my eyes shut."

"I drank a whole pond full once," boasted Ananias. "with—with—my mouth shut."

After this crowning effort he went and sat down upon the fireless cooker.

"Is this a fireless cooker?" he asked.

"Yes," said the neighbor.

"We've got one at home just like it, only forty times as big. It's big enough to hold a pig. Once we cooked a cow in it."

"We cooked a nelephant in ours," Sapphira chimed in. "A great big pink nelephant."

"How remarkable," said the neighbor, impressed. "I don't see how you got him in."

"We just shoosed him in," said Sapphira, airily. "And he was a great big nelephant."

"We've got a great big tremendous tiger," Ananias said, brisily, "and we keep him in the dishpan and he has a green tail and a blue head and purple feet."

"Our tiger," said Sapphira, casually, "is a lion and we keep him in the flour bin, and he wears yellow trousers. Can I have a planna?"

"A planna?" repeated the neighbor, looking puzzled. "I haven't one to give you."

"Yes, you have," insisted Sapphira. "Those yellow ones on the table."

The neighbor took up one of the bananas and looked at it. "I think it's too green for you to eat," she said.

"I love them when they're green," responded Sapphira. "Why, mother gives me six piannas every day and they're just as green as that grass out there."

"My father," said Ananias reflectively, "makes my mother eat four, six, eleven, eight piannas every day, green ones with red and white and blue spots on, and they make her awfully sick, but he makes her eat them."

The neighbor opened the screen door. "Shoo!" she said inhospitably. "Run along home. You're making me lose all my moral sense."

Ananias and Sapphira tumbled out of the door as cheerfully as they had tumbled in.

"We'll come again tomorrow and get another drink," they assured the neighbor kindly as she sped the parting guests.—Chicago Daily News.

At a London Wedding.

Passing through the east end of London, a tourist observed a great crowd of costers watching a young couple entering a church, obviously with the intention of committing matrimony.

Feeling inquisitive and wondering who the couple were to command the presence of so many of their clan the countryman turned to an urchin nearby.

"Sonny," said he, "who is it being married?"

The small boy solemnly scratched his head for a full minute, as though contemplating his reply.

"Well, Gov'nor," he remarked at length, "I ain't puffedly sure, but I find it's the bloke and the gal wot's dressed up like 'am bones."—London Opinion.

His Wife Too Pretty.

A man who applied for a divorce in California told the judge that his wife was "too pretty for a poor man."

She knew that she was pretty and did her best to make her clothes worthy of her beauty, which was more than her husband could afford. He modestly declared that he was earning too small a salary to satisfy her extravagances. The judge declared that he could do nothing to modify a vain woman's vanity and allowed the decree.

While sheep will eat grain and any kind of grass and some kinds of weeds, they are, after all, dainty feeders, and the feed must be absolutely clean.

If you intend to raise sheep for wool buy rams and ewes that are bred for wool, and do not make the mistake of mixing mutton types with wool types.

The young pigs often become crooked in the legs, if kept on the hard floor too long, and this means that the pig, if a good breed, loses much of its value.

Government Will Look After Standard Interests in Germany.

Washington, Oct. 17.—If the German government and the financial interests behind the movement to oust the Standard Oil company from Germany think they can ruthlessly attack the American concern because it has been presented as a trust they are due to be rudely disillusioned.

It was made very clear and with considerable emphasis at the state department, that any attack upon the Standard Oil company by Germany will meet with a defense just as vigorous as the United States government can put up.

Moreover an official of the state department declared emphatically that in case this government has to go to the aid of the Standard Oil company, the "arrogant attitude" of the German government and press of Germany toward American commercial interests in the last few months will be borne in mind.

Information received in Washington is to the effect that the German oil interests propose that the German government shall create a government monopoly in oil throughout the empire. This is to be done, it is said, through the taking over of all the oil interests now operating in Germany. If the Standard objects to such treatment the plan is to have its property condemned and confiscated by the government, the owners to receive whatever sum the government appraiser decides it is worth. There is no secret made of the fact that the real object is to drive out the Standard Oil company.

Congressman Lafean

Friend of Farmers

The farmers of York and Adams Counties never had a more sincere friend in Congress than Daniel F. Lafean. In season and out, Congressman Lafean has been found zealously guarding the interests of those who till the soil and who form such an important part of the citizenship of the Twentieth District. Upon every occasion Mr. Lafean has been found fighting for the welfare of the farmers of this community and no legislation harmful to their interests has been proposed by Congress without a bitter protest on his part. Evincing the same spirit of enthusiasm, Mr. Lafean has worked and voted for legislation which he knew would prove of benefit to them.

Mr. Lafean's friendship and work in behalf of the farmer was demonstrated in a most striking manner when, against the protest of a majority of the Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress, he stood out against the passage of the Canadian reciprocity bill, which was so bitterly opposed by the farmers, not only in this district, but the country at large. There was no influence that could sway Mr. Lafean from his course, and he cast his vote in opposition to this legislation. The interests of his constituents were at stake, and he was found in line defending them at every stage. He was not willing that the products of Canadian farmers should be thrown into competition with his own people and he voiced his protest against such action in the most vigorous manner possible. Mr. Lafean's record in behalf of the farmers of this district entitles him to another term at their hands.
